1. [] Received a call from Richard Perle, on the staff of the Subcommittee on National Security and International Operations, who said he understood that some Soviet journals were interpreting the recent SALT agreements as an important step toward enabling the Soviet Union to achieve strategic superiority over the U.S. Perle asked if we could provide him with any specific material of this sort. I said we would look into it.

After consulting with D/OSR, I called Perle's office and in his absence talked to Dorothy Fosdick to whom I explained that a review of the relevant material failed to identify any Soviet claims that SALT had given the Soviets an opportunity to obtain a strategic superiority over the U.S. Miss Fosdick asked if we could provide them with some examples of the kind of material the Soviet media were putting out regarding SALT which I promised to do.
